Special Recognition and Press

AMNM bringing innovative and patient centric techniques to the region

AMNM performs first-of-its-kind minimally invasive fertility surgery

AMNM Medical with Northwestern Medicine, Qatar, performed an innovative minimally invasive fertility surgery to restore a woman's fertility. The procedure was performed for the first time in Qatar by Dr. Amir Alkhatib, AMNM reproductive medicine physician and gynecologist, in collaboration with Northwestern Medicine's Dr. Guy Fender. The minimally invasive technique involves a small incision in the abdomen to access the uterus and ovaries, allowing for a less traumatic surgical approach compared to traditional open surgery. This approach offers several advantages, including reduced pain, faster recovery, and a lower risk of complications. The patient, who had previously undergone a cesarean section, expressed her desire for a less invasive procedure. Dr. Fender, a leading expert in minimally invasive gynecologic surgery, praised the AMNM team for their expertise and commitment to providing the highest quality of care. The successful outcome of the surgery marks a significant milestone for AMNM, demonstrating its commitment to bringing innovative medical techniques to the region.

"We, at AMNM, are thrilled to bring such an innovative technique to Qatar. This way of operating on the uterus is significantly less traumatic to the cervix and endometrial lining, allowing for enhanced recovery and an early return to a normal menstrual cycle and future pregnancy."

- Dr. Fender, AMNM Fertility Medicine Physician and Gynecologist

"It was truly an amazing experience from start to finish and unlike anything I had experienced before with previous procedures. The team worked together seamlessly, and I woke up feeling great, and with exceptional pain management I was ready to go home."
