Yuri Arthur Commercial Counselor U.S. Embassy, Athens

Yuri Arthur serves as Commercial Counselor/Senior Commercial Officer at the U.S. Embassy in Athens. She has held the role since August 2021 and is in her 5th year at Post. During her time in Greece, she has also served as the Acting Deputy Chief of Mission and as the Acting Regional Senior Commercial Officer for Bulgaria, Romania, Croatia, and Serbia. In Greece, Yuri has overseen the expansion of a previously small office with a renewed mandate on commercial engagement through extensive collaboration with interagency colleagues. Her tour has witnessed successful deals as the result of years of Embassy effort, including the privatization of Elefsina Shipyards in the first project financed by the U.S. Development Finance Corporation (DFC), the prevention of malign infrastructure in tenders for Athens International Airport and Greek Customs, the inauguration of the Alexandroupoli FSRU, and the Daedlus Supercomputer project. She helped broker a partnership between Elefsina Shipyards and Korean conglomerate Hanwha for energy infrastructure, defense, and shipbuilding projects to take place in South Korea, Greece, and the United States. The Commercial Section focuses on a deal-by-deal/transactional approach across multiple industry sectors, where locally engaged staff focus on sectors where U.S. firms have the greatest potential for business. Work has included resolving impediments to business, identifying suitable partners, and executing events such as trade missions and dialogues. The team most recently executed a successful Genomics Technology Mission and served as control for the first visit of Secretary Burgum to Greece. Prior to her tour in Greece, Yuri served at the U.S. Embassy in Manila (2017-2020) and the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo (2014-2017). In Manila, she focused on leveraging USG resources and likeminded partners for opportunities in the infrastructure sector and worked with multilateral partners to address pharmaceutical issues. In Tokyo, she served as control officer for the first visit of former Secretary Wilbur Ross to Japan and for former President Obama's trip to the G7 Summit. Yuri joined the Foreign Commercial Service in 2011 but worked as a Desk Officer for the Office of East Asia in Commerce Headquarters. She represented the United States in official trade policy dialogues with Japan and was part of the Remediation Mission bringing U.S. firms to Fukushima following the nuclear disaster. Her domestic tour was at the West Los Angeles U.S. Export Assistance Center. Prior to government service, Yuri worked as an Information Officer for the Japanese Embassy in the United States and as an Account Manager for All Nippon Airways.

at the Maritime Administration (MARAD)
U.S. Department of Transportation

Sydney Plante serves as the Acting Associate Administrator for Strategic Engagement at the Maritime Administration (MARAD) within the U.S. Department of Transportation. As a key member of MARAD's executive leadership team, she drives the agency's strategic outreach, stakeholder partnerships, and comprehensive policy agenda to strengthen the U.S. maritime industry.

Sydney brings a robust background in government operations, policy development, and strategic communications. Prior to joining MARAD, she served in the regional office of U.S. Secretary of Transportation Sean Duffy during his tenure in Congress. In this capacity, she spearheaded regional policy initiatives and managed critical constituent relations. Complementing her public sector leadership, Sydney draws on over three years of experience as a paralegal, giving her a sophisticated understanding of administrative law, regulatory frameworks, and complex case management.

Sydney earned her bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin–Madison, where she focused her studies on Economics, Political Science, and Political Philosophy.

Matthew Thomas

Partner, International Trade Maritime
Blank Rome Law Firm

Matthew J. Thomas has more than 30 years of experience in international trade, transport and maritime regulation, and government affairs, representing leading energy and commodities companies, shipowners, governments, insurers, investors, ports, shipyards, and marine terminal operators.

Matt works extensively in the areas of international trade sanctions, export controls, and related anti-money laundering measures. He has represented several global companies targeted for U.S. sanctions, reaching successful resolutions with the Departments of State and Treasury (“OFAC”). He has aided numerous clients around the world on sanctions and export control compliance planning, investigations, and transactional due diligence, with particular focus on the energy, commodities, maritime, transport, and services sectors.

In addition, Matt has extensive experience in the maritime, logistics, and container shipping sector. He has represented leading carriers, terminals, and logistics providers in regulatory proceedings before the Federal Maritime Commission (“FMC”), where he formerly served as the Assistant General Counsel for International Affairs. He represents marine terminal operators in complex joint venture arrangements and is experienced in global container operators’ merger and integration projects.

He also counsels private companies and foreign governments on matters of international law and diplomatic strategy, particularly in defending national sovereignty or combating international trade barriers. During his government tenure, he was responsible for the FMC’s relations with foreign governments and multilateral bodies, such as the European Union, World Trade Organization, and Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development.

Matt works with leading maritime and offshore energy clients on a broad range of compliance issues, including environmental, safety, citizenship, and “Jones Act” coastwise compliance. He has represented leading energy companies in key Jones Act rulings and investigations that have shaped domestic petroleum trade, and structured complex Jones Act compliance ownership structures.

Throughout his career, Matt has built strong relationships with U.S. government officials, trade associations, and the local legal and lobbying community. He guides international businesses in their dealings with the Departments of State, Treasury, Commerce, Justice, and Transportation, as well as independent regulatory agencies and Congress. In addition to his professional experience in maritime and international trade, Matt has also served as a federal lobbyist and led successful lobbying efforts on the behalf of local governments, advising on federal affairs and managing relations with congressional offices.

Matt’s broad and diverse Washington career has given him unique skills in legal and regulatory strategy and project management, including the design and execution of hybrid legal and government relations efforts to shape policy and achieve client objectives.

Matt wrote the United States chapter for Ports and Terminals (3rd Ed.), a global compendium of port law that was published in 2018 by Getting The Deal Through.

Dana Merkel

Partner, Maritime
Blank Rome Law Firm

Dana Merkel focuses her practice on domestic and international marine transportation and environmental issues for clients worldwide. Clients include ship owners, operators, and managers; offshore construction companies; shippers, charterers; and terminals. Major areas of practice include:

- Compliance counseling under a myriad of international conventions and U.S. and foreign regulations
- Coastwise trade
- Offshore construction, oil & gas, and wind farm development
- Crew citizenship, including visa and entry issues
- Defense of administrative, civil, and criminal enforcement actions
- Internal investigations
- Pollution response
- Counseling on compliance and risk mitigation strategies
- Development of administrative and legislative solutions to maritime and environmental compliance challenges
- Vessel construction and flagging
- International trade and sanctions issues

Dana's passion for the maritime industry began as a child growing up on Lake Superior, where she worked in marinas and on private yachts and small passenger vessels. She went on to graduate from the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy and worked through the International Organization of Masters, Mates, and Pilots ("MMP") as a Third Mate and Qualified Member of the Engine Department ("QMED") on a variety of vessel types, including container, dry bulk, tanker, ro-ro, ice breaker, and research vessels. Dana also worked ashore managing crude and product transportation for a major U.S. oil company.

Dana conducts customized training sessions for clients and assists in creating and implementing effective compliance programs. She also writes and presents on issues impacting the maritime industry frequently, such as: "The Regulatory Landscape: Immigration & Employment for OSW," at IPF Virtual, April 2020, "The Broad Reach and Limitations of U.S. Forfeiture Law," in Pratt's Energy Law Report, "Status of U.S. Jones Act and Its Implications to the U.S. Offshore Wind Industry," at the 2020 U.S. Offshore Wind Round Table Discussion, "Advances in Electronic Recordkeeping," in Maritime Reporter, "Opportunities and Challenges with Maritime Autonomous Surface Ships (MASS)," in Maritime Reporter, "Let's Talk Vessels (Construction and O&M)," at the 2019 Sea to Land Conference, "New U.S. Effort in Strait of Hormuz Echoes Past Clashes with Iran," in USNI News, "MARPOL Compliance Alert: D.C. Kimberly Guilfoyle

U.S. Ambassador to the Hellenic Republic
U.S. Embassy, Athens

United States Ambassador to the Hellenic Republic Kimberly Ann Guilfoyle was sworn in on September 29, 2025, in Washington, DC.

Ambassador Guilfoyle brings over two decades of experience in law, media, and national political advocacy. She began her career as a prosecutor in the San Francisco and Los Angeles District Attorney's Offices, where she handled serious felony cases including domestic violence, sexual assault, and homicide. In 2000, she was appointed Assistant District Attorney in San Francisco, earning recognition for her work on victims' rights and trial litigation. Her legal accomplishments laid the foundation for a national media career, most notably as a co-host of The Five on Fox News, where she provided legal and political commentary on issues ranging from constitutional law to foreign affairs.

Ambassador Guilfoyle is a best-selling author, writing Making the Case: How to Be Your Own Best Advocate, and the delightful children's book, The Princess and Her Pup.

Most recently she served as the founder and CEO of Polished Rice, Inc. and Managing Member of Metropolitan Medspa LLC and KGT Productions LLC.

Beyond her legal and media work, Ambassador Guilfoyle has played a prominent role in national politics and public communications, having formerly served as a Senior Advisor to President Donald J. Trump and as National Chair, Trump Victory Finance Committee, Donald J. Trump for President, Inc.

Originally from California, Ambassador Guilfoyle graduated magna cum laude with a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science from the University of California, Davis and earned her Juris Doctor degree from the University of San Francisco School of Law. She currently resides in Florida and has one son, Ronan Villency.

Ambassador Guilfoyle is the 25th resident U.S. Ambassador to the Hellenic Republic and the first woman to hold the role.

Marina Hadjipateras

Founder and General Partner
TMV

Marina Hadjipateras is a Founder and General Partner of TMV, where she invests in early-stage companies reshaping legacy industries. Shaped by a 200-year family legacy in shipping and firsthand experience operating at scale, Marina brings deep industry insight and an operator's perspective to the founders she backs.

Prior to TMV, Marina played a central role in investor relations efforts surrounding Dorian LPG's transition to the public markets, driving investor communications and engagement across the process. She also founded Filotimo Partners, her family's private investment arm, where she developed and deployed a next-generation private equity strategy.

At TMV, Marina works closely with founders on go-to-market, strategic partnerships, and scaling within complex, trust-driven industries. Her approach is rooted in unlocking commercial pathways and embedding innovation directly into legacy systems, positioning TMV as an active partner to both founders and global operators.

Beyond TMV, Marina has spent over a decade as Vice Chair of the INTERTANKO Environmental Committee, working alongside the International Maritime Organization to advance sustainable solutions for global shipping. She is also a mentor with Endeavor, supporting high-impact entrepreneurs across emerging markets.

Marina has been recognized with the NYOT Innovators & Disruptors Award for Venture Capital and named among Lloyd's List's Top Ten in Finance. She holds a B.A. from Georgetown University and completed the United States Merchant Marine Academy's STCW program.

Semiramis Paliou

Diana Shipping

Semiramis Paliou is the Chief Executive Officer of Diana Shipping Inc., a leading global shipping company that specializes in the transportation of dry cargo goods. She has been with the company since 2015, serving in various positions including Deputy Chief Executive Officer, Chief Operating Officer, and member of the Executive Committee. In addition to her role at Diana Shipping, Ms. Paliou also serves as the Chief Executive Officer of Diana Shipping Services S.A. the wholly owned ship management company.

Semiramis is also actively involved in various industry organizations and committees. She currently serves as the Chairperson of HELMEPA and Chairperson of INTERMEPA, organizations dedicated for the last 40 years to promoting the protection of our seas through education, activities, and projects for our seafarers and the broader society. Under her leadership HELMEPA now focuses on the Sustainable Development Goals as defined by the United Nations, to promote social, economic and environmental sustainability.

She is also the Vice president of the Greek committee of Det Norske Veritas, a member of the Greek committee of Nippon Kaiji Kyokai, the Greek committee of Bureau Veritas, Hellenic Advisory Committee of Lloyd's Register and the American Bureau of Shipping. Moreover, Semiramis is a member of the board of directors of the UK P&I Club, the Union of Greek Shipowners and the Global Maritime Forum.

Semiramis Paliou's passion for the shipping industry was instilled in her from a young age, having been born into a family with a long-standing tradition in the sector.

She holds a BSc in Mechanical Engineering from Imperial College, London, and an MSc in Naval Architecture from University College, London. She has also completed several executive education programs at Harvard Business School, including "Finance for Senior Executives," "Authentic Leader Development," and a certificate program on "Sustainable Business Strategy."

Semiramis began her career as a trainee ship surveyor at Lloyd's Register of Shipping where she was assigned field postings in Spain and Finland. Her experience at Diana Shipping Agencies S.A. further solidified her passion for the field, and Semiramis has since held numerous leadership positions throughout her career.
